

Speaker Series: "Know Your Neighbor"

Tuesday, February 28, at 7:30 pm on Zoom

In February, our speaker series will feature four WN members who took a memoir-writing class at Wellesley Weston Lifetime Learning (WWLL). They will share "hilarious stories, stories of family culture, stories of chickens, the unexpected," says Catherine Connor. Both organizer and participant, she promises that "you'll know much more about your fellow members through listening to their writings--and you will be thoroughly entertained." The speakers introduce themselves below:

Jerry Gans, psychiatrist--When I entered my 70s, I decided I was through with international travel. I've found myself instead gravitating to internal travel, by which I mean taking stock of my life by looking inside. Memoir-writing has turned out to be a wonderful way of taking this journey – not to mention less expensive. Three years ago I took "Writing Your Story" at WWLL and discovered several members of Wellesley Neighbors there. The class's positive reactions to what I shared was a great satisfaction, and I'm now putting together what will be a self-published book of some 45 pieces that I've written since then.

Lee Delph, elementary school teacher—In my 33 years of teaching, I never wrote just for the sake of writing. I loved teaching writing, but it wasn't until I joined a memoir class in 2007 that I grew to love it. A whole world of memories and new friends opened up for me. Dredging up memories of my childhood, world travels, marriage and divorce, and moving to Needham and then Wellesley gave me lots of material. The camaraderie and constructive criticism helped me grow as a writer and a person. I think I learned about Wellesley Neighbors through one or more members in the class.

Peter Offenhartz, professor and computer entrepreneur—The WWLL memoir class has been a chance to hear the life stories of scores of fascinating people and to tell my own. I was raised near Croton-on-Hudson, with summers at a trout-fishing camp in Maine. At 16 I visited relatives in Ireland and bicycled through several countries, then went to Swarthmore and met my wife Barbara. Graduate studies took us to the U. of Pennsylvania, Cambridge (England), Tokyo and Harvard; I taught chemistry at U. of Colorado and Amherst and wrote a graduate textbook, using the proceeds to acquire a pilot's license and second-hand plane. Came to Wellesley and taught at Mass Bay but moved into computer software and hardware, founding several small companies along the way.

Catherine Connor, biomedical researcher, administrator--I moved to Natick from Urbana, Illinois, 13 years ago, having spent most of my life in Urbana, mostly at the University of Illinois at Urbana Champaign. I found it somewhat difficult to find compatriots of my age in this brand-new place until discovering WWLL, where I signed up for the memoir-writing class. There I found friends, including Ilse Sangree, who invited me to join Wellesley Neighbors. Because Ilse's invitation was the third I'd received, I decided it would be worth trying. I've now belonged for 7 years and am delighted that the two organizations can come together in this presentation.

REMINDER: Give yourself a Valentine by signing up for "Moving to Heal," a workshop in no-impact-aerobics (NIA) exercise with music on Tuesday, February 14, 3-4 pm on Zoom. Led by the psychologist Dr. Suzanne Cohen, it's presented by our Health Support and Wellbeing Committee. Google "NIA yoga" for a preview.

From the President: Fabulous February

AAAHH! February! What a delight! I note that February includes lots of famous dates—we celebrate Presidents George Washington and Abraham Lincoln. We celebrate lots of car sales. We observe Groundhog Day, to see if winter will continue. Rock singers Buddy Holly, Richie

Valens and the Big Bopper died in a plane crash. “Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs” was released. The Barbie Doll was invented. Mark Zuckerberg created Facebook. Astronaut Alan Shepard hit three golf balls on the moon. The Beatles arrived in the U.S. for the first time. The Boy Scouts of America was founded. An act of Congress passed, authorizing the U.S. Weather Bureau. And of course, St. Valentine’s Day. I never knew what a broad portfolio the saint has: the lives of lovers, of course, but also interventions regarding beekeeping and epilepsy, as well as the plague, fainting and traveling. As you might expect, he’s also the patron saint of engaged couples and happy marriages. Busy guy!

Who knew how fabulous February is? Yesterday, I had a wonderful experience—I saw the first witch hazel flowers starting to bloom (at Wellesley College).

So, let’s all hang in there as we continue through winter, enjoying gatherings with Wellesley Neighbors, both on Zoom and in person cocktail hours and afternoon tea, great dining opportunities, lots of groups—Walking, Memoirs, New Yorker, Play reading, Short Story— theater and health presentations. And the very best thing about Fabulous February?? It’s short.

Adele

Monthly Computer Tip from Catherine Connor: If your computer screen starts flashing warnings that say “DO NOT TURN YOUR COMPUTER OFF!!!” or “CALL THIS NUMBER IMMEDIATELY!!” or [think up any dire warning you can], what you need to do is IMMEDIATELY TURN YOUR COMPUTER OFF! Never try to respond to scammers...

From the Executive Director: Reward Good Service

Many members utilize and value our member-vetted database for service referrals. When you have a minute, please send me the names and contact information for vendors and professionals whose services you recommend. All referrals are appreciated and, in particular, we welcome referrals for the following services: garbage collection, tax preparation, house cleaning, massage therapists, all types of doctors, dentists, roofers, masons, and wills and trusts lawyers.

Call me at 781-283-0417 or send an email to director@wellesleyneighbors.org. Joyce

Ed. Note: Your referral may even help YOU! The other day I couldn’t think of the name of a person who’d given me a massage at home (a gift from my family). I called Joyce for a referral, and she recommended that very person, whose name I’d given her three years ago.

January Service and Support

Service requests - 4 (masseuse, garbage collector, house cleaner tax preparer)

Support requests—13 (12 rides, website log-in help)

To request service or support, call Joyce at 781-283-0417, ext. 1.

Wellesley Neighbors Needs YOU!

At a recent BOD meeting, Joyce called urgently for more volunteer drivers (see box below, right), sparking a discussion of WN volunteering in general. “Volunteerism is at the heart of Wellesley Neighbors, for it has one paid employee—the executive director—and everyone else volunteers time and talent to make it function,” said BOD member Rosalie Gimeno. Our first president, Janet Giele, added many good thoughts and agreed to share some of them below.

There seem to be three different types of volunteering that I will call the Good Neighbor, the Expert, and the Leader-Innovator. (Some of our members fall into all three categories.) Many have been Good Neighbors by serving as cluster coordinators (led by Marlies Stueart), giving rides (Gene Cox, Nancy Gans, Ann Swanson and others), creating the weekly blast and newsletter (Arthur Ensroth, Lucy Phillips et al.), or hosting gatherings (Betsy Campbell, Maureen Donlon, Mimi Ferrell, and many others).

In the Expert category, one thinks of Peter Offenhartz and Barbara Slavin who have been our webmasters or computer coaches, helping members with everyday issues that come up in connecting to Zoom, logging on to the website, or sending an attachment. Dan Kemp has helped make two videos for the website. Nancy Gans has lent her expertise as a lawyer.

In the Leader-Innovator category, one thinks of Hank Solomon and Mary Lefkowitz who helped cement our relationship to the Wellesley College Club. Hank also established the men’s lunch group, and Mary extended outreach to retiring Wellesley College faculty members, who have starred as some of our speakers. Former members who were WN founders, such as Stan and Ruth Treitman, created the website (to mention only one of many contributions), and Tom DeReimer persisted until we received our 501©(3) nonprofit designation.

I called several people to ask what they found rewarding in volunteering. Nancy Gans and Margot Lansing--both active in many ways--concurred on two things: the pleasure of using their own expertise to solve a problem and seeing that it had truly helped someone. Maureen Donlon, who heads the Activities Committee, added, “Retirement can make you feel a little out of sync with the world, but planning and participating in our events gives me a wonderful purpose in my daily life.”

In closing, I would like to add a note about changes over time. In the beginning, those of us who were founders knew that our efforts would come to naught unless we all pitched in to make the organization a reality. Our present challenge is to maintain that sense of urgency. Ann Swanson thinks COVID drew us away from others and sapped some of the volunteer spirit—but we can bring it back. We all need to figure out what kind of volunteering we are best at – Good Neighbor, Expert, Leader-Innovator—and get involved. J.G.

One way to start is to log onto our website, click on “About Us” and click on “Committees and Boards.” Each committee has a box, with what they do at the top and “view members” at the bottom. NOTE: The Membership Committee (both recruiting and welcoming branches) is under reorganization and particularly wants new people and new ideas.

A few of our many WN volunteers, from left: Margot Lansing, Arthur Ensroth, Barbara Slavin, Hank Solomon.

Calling All Drivers...

Joyce credits Gene Cox as her most stalwart volunteer driver. “I enjoy doing it and enjoy meeting people,” he says. “And they are always so touchingly grateful!” A retired professor of medieval studies and lover of music, Gene often drives to Boston for concerts--and to his family home in Ohio. He obviously likes driving—but when he’s in Ohio, he can’t drive for WN. And he’s noticed that some drivers have dropped out while requests are increasing, “probably due to getting older and needing rides to doctors.” Gene always takes a book along in case he has to wait. But with enough volunteers, rides can be split between two drivers, avoiding a wait. With enough volunteers, nobody has to do too much. Please contact Joyce at 781-283-0417 or director@wellesleyneighbors.org to learn more.

Welcome New Members

Carol and Jerry Kopperschmidt of Natick: Carol grew up in the house where she lives today; it has seen five generations of her family since 1947. She graduated from Jackson College of Tufts University and taught elementary school. She later earned a Certificate in Accounting from Bentley College and worked in that field. She and Jerry raised three children and now have five grandchildren, mostly teenagers. Jerry came to this area from Illinois to attend Andover-Newton Theological School, and spent five years as minister of a church in Charlton, MA. After graduate studies in education and psychology, he directed special education programs in several school systems. He played softball from his early years in Illinois, and recently retired from Senior Softball. Jerry's main hobby is collecting political memorabilia.

Lawrence M. Baldwin: Larry was born in Ohio and grew up there, and in Kansas and New York State. After Antioch College, he did graduate work in child development at Harvard. He taught child psychology, did psychiatric research, was a commercial programmer but spent his last 25 working years at Wellesley College as Director of Institutional Research. He loves taking care of his Sherborn home: gardening, carpentry and creating with stained glass (which led to quilting, with help from his quilter sister). Larry's late wife was an actress, teacher and author, and her daughter's family are frequent visitors.

Jan Mokros: Jan lives in Weston but is from Minneapolis and went to the University of Minnesota. She came east with a PhD in Child Development to teach at Wellesley College and do research at its Center for Research on Women. She's spent the last 40 years doing grant-funded independent research on how children learn, especially how underserved children can better learn STEM subjects. In one study they learned about COVID; another was about the comeback of endangered puffins in Maine (where Jan lives part-time). "I can't retire—my work is too interesting!" she says. Jan also enjoys her son and daughter and running half-marathons.

Happenings

Fred Breimyer took pictures at the Jack's Abbey Brewing Tour and calls this one, "The Maureens have landed!"

Ready for lunch after the tour are (clockwise from lower left) Maureen Meyer, Maureen Donlon, Adele Langevin, Fred Breimyer, Catherine Connor, Larry Baldwin, Jerry and Carol Kopperschmidt, Jean Berry, John and Zully Hedreen.

February Events/Interest Group Meetings

Note: Those on Zoom are marked (Z)

Wed. Feb. 1, 5:30 pm - Women's Night Out, PapaRazzi
Thurs. Feb. 2, 12:30 pm - Men's Lunch
Thurs. Feb. 2, 2 pm - New Yorker II Group (Z)
Fri. Feb. 3, 3 pm - Afternoon Tea (Z)
Tues. Feb. 7, 1 pm - Lunch at Bazille, Nordstrom's, Natick Mall
Wed. Feb. 8, 2 pm - New Yorker I Group (Z)
Thurs. Feb. 9, 4 pm - TED-ED Talk, Benefits of a bilingual brain (Z) (see box at right)
Tues. Feb. 14, 3-4 pm - NIA workshop (Z) (see box, page 1)
Wed. Feb. 15, 1 pm—Lunch at 110 Grill, Sudbury
Thurs. Feb. 16, 1 pm—Short Story Group (Z)
Friday. Feb. 17, 5 pm—Cocktail Hour (Z)
Tues. Feb. 21, 1 pm—Lunch at California Pizza Kitchen, Natick Mall
Sat. Feb. 25, 2 pm—Vokes Theater, Wayland, Bridges of Madison County
Sun. Feb. 26, 3 pm—Wellesley Chamber Players, Dana Hall
Tues. Feb. 28, 1 pm—Lunch at Sichuan Gourmet, Framingham
Tues. Feb. 28, 7:30 pm—Speaker Series: Know Your Neighbor (Zoom) (see page 1)

February 2023

Sun	Mon	Tue	Wed	Thu	Fri	Sat
			1 •	2 •	3 •	4
5	6	7 •	8 •	9 •	10	11
12	13	14 • 	15 •	16 •	17 •	18
19	20	21 •	22	23	24	25 •
26 •	27	28 •

BILINGUAL?

Rosalie Gimeno, who will moderate this February 9 discussion, says that in this context, bilingual (or multilingual) means you read, write, speak or understand a foreign language. You needn't do all four; in fact you needn't know more than English to enjoy this program.

March Events

Watch weekly blasts for new developments.

Wed. March 1, 5:30 pm - Women's Night Out, Dinner at Papa Razzi
Thurs. March 2, 12:30 pm - Men's Lunch
Thurs. March 2, 2 pm - New Yorker II Group (Z)
Fri. March 3, 1 pm - Playreading Group at the Swansons
Fri. March 3, 3 pm - Afternoon Tea (Z)
Sat. March 4, 4 pm - Sudbury Savoyards, Gilbert & Sullivan, The Grand Duke (see box at right)
Wed. March 8, 2 pm - New Yorker I Group (Z)
Fri., March 10, 1 pm - Playreading Group at the Swansons
Thurs., March 16, 1 pm - Short Story Group (Z)
Fri. March 17, 5 pm - Cocktail Hour (Z)
Mon. March 27 or Wed. March 29, 4 pm, David Gullette, poetry reading, at Mimi Ferrell's home (limited number of guests)
Thurs. March 30, 7:30 pm - Speaker Series, Jean Berry (Z)

SUDBURY SAVOYARDS?

Catherine Connor, coordinator of this March 4 event, says, "Many of us really like G&S and simply don't know there is this one place nearby where we can find it—although only once a year. "The Grand Duke" is not often performed, so this is a special opportunity. Google "Sudbury Savoyards" to learn more about this unique group.

February Newsletter

Wellesley Neighbors
P.O. Box 812609
Wellesley, MA 02482

Board of Directors 2023

OFFICERS

Adele Langevin, President
Polly Conlon, Vice President
Catherine Connor, Past President
Lucy Phillips, Clerk
Richard Lansing, Treasurer

DIRECTORS

Polly Conlon, Lee Delph,
Arthur Ensroth, Jerry Gans,
Janet Giele, Rosalie Gimeno,
Marcia Goldsmith, Linda Griffith,
Dan Kemp, Margot Lansing,
Teri Ann Lilly, Marlies Stueart,
Susan Taylor

Speaker Series: "Know Your Neighbor"

Tuesday, February 28, at 7:30 pm on Zoom

In February, our speaker series will feature four WN members who took a memoir-writing class at Wellesley Weston Lifetime Learning (WWLL). They will share "hilarious stories, stories of family culture, stories of chickens, the unexpected," says Catherine Connor. Both organizer and participant, she promises that "you'll know much more about your fellow members through listening to their writings--and you will be thoroughly entertained." The speakers introduce themselves below:

Jerry Gans, psychiatrist--When I entered my 70s, I decided I was through with international travel. I've found myself instead gravitating to internal travel, by which I mean taking stock of my life by looking inside. Memoir-writing has turned out to be a wonderful way of taking this journey – not to mention less expensive. Three years ago I took "Writing Your Story" at WWLL and discovered several members of Wellesley Neighbors there. The class's positive reactions to what I shared was a great satisfaction, and I'm now putting together what will be a self-published book of some 45 pieces that I've written since then.

Lee Delph, elementary school teacher—In my 33 years of teaching, I never wrote just for the sake of writing. I loved teaching writing, but it wasn't until I joined a memoir class in 2007 that I grew to love it. A whole world of memories and new friends opened up for me. Dredging up memories of my childhood, world travels, marriage and divorce, and moving to Needham and then Wellesley gave me lots of material. The camaraderie and constructive criticism helped me grow as a writer and a person. I think I learned about Wellesley Neighbors through one or more members in the class.

Peter Offenhartz, professor and computer entrepreneur—The WWLL memoir class has been a chance to hear the life stories of scores of fascinating people and to tell my own. I was raised near Croton-on-Hudson, with summers at a trout-fishing camp in Maine. At 16 I visited relatives in Ireland and bicycled through several countries, then went to Swarthmore and met my wife Barbara. Graduate studies took us to the U. of Pennsylvania, Cambridge (England), Tokyo and Harvard; I taught chemistry at U. of Colorado and Amherst and wrote a graduate textbook, using the proceeds to acquire a pilot's license and second-hand plane. Came to Wellesley and taught at Mass Bay but moved into computer software and hardware, founding several small companies along the way.

Catherine Connor, biomedical researcher, administrator--I moved to Natick from Urbana, Illinois, 13 years ago, having spent most of my life in Urbana, mostly at the University of Illinois at Urbana Champaign. I found it somewhat difficult to find compatriots of my age in this brand-new place until discovering WWLL, where I signed up for the memoir-writing class. There I found friends, including Ilse Sangree, who invited me to join Wellesley Neighbors. Because Ilse's invitation was the third I'd received, I decided it would be worth trying. I've now belonged for 7 years and am delighted that the two organizations can come together in this presentation.

REMINDER: Give yourself a Valentine by signing up for "Moving to Heal," a workshop in no-impact-aerobics (NIA) exercise with music on Tuesday, February 14, 3-4 pm on Zoom. Led by the psychologist Dr. Suzanne Cohen, it's presented by our Health Support and Wellbeing Committee. Google "NIA yoga" for a preview.

From the President: Fabulous February

AAAHH! February! What a delight! I note that February includes lots of famous dates—we celebrate Presidents George Washington and Abraham Lincoln. We celebrate lots of car sales. We observe Groundhog Day, to see if winter will continue. Rock singers Buddy Holly, Richie

Valens and the Big Bopper died in a plane crash. “Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs” was released. The Barbie Doll was invented. Mark Zuckerberg created Facebook. Astronaut Alan Shepard hit three golf balls on the moon. The Beatles arrived in the U.S. for the first time. The Boy Scouts of America was founded. An act of Congress passed, authorizing the U.S. Weather Bureau. And of course, St. Valentine’s Day. I never knew what a broad portfolio the saint has: the lives of lovers, of course, but also interventions regarding beekeeping and epilepsy, as well as the plague, fainting and traveling. As you might expect, he’s also the patron saint of engaged couples and happy marriages. Busy guy!

Who knew how fabulous February is? Yesterday, I had a wonderful experience—I saw the first witch hazel flowers starting to bloom (at Wellesley College).

So, let’s all hang in there as we continue through winter, enjoying gatherings with Wellesley Neighbors, both on Zoom and in person cocktail hours and afternoon tea, great dining opportunities, lots of groups—Walking, Memoirs, New Yorker, Play reading, Short Story— theater and health presentations. And the very best thing about Fabulous February?? It’s short.

Adele

Monthly Computer Tip from Catherine Connor: If your computer screen starts flashing warnings that say “DO NOT TURN YOUR COMPUTER OFF!!!” or “CALL THIS NUMBER IMMEDIATELY!!” or [think up any dire warning you can], what you need to do is IMMEDIATELY TURN YOUR COMPUTER OFF! Never try to respond to scammers...

From the Executive Director: Reward Good Service

Many members utilize and value our member-vetted database for service referrals. When you have a minute, please send me the names and contact information for vendors and professionals whose services you recommend. All referrals are appreciated and, in particular, we welcome referrals for the following services: garbage collection, tax preparation, house cleaning, massage therapists, all types of doctors, dentists, roofers, masons, and wills and trusts lawyers.

Call me at 781-283-0417 or send an email to director@wellesleyneighbors.org. Joyce

Ed. Note: Your referral may even help YOU! The other day I couldn’t think of the name of a person who’d given me a massage at home (a gift from my family). I called Joyce for a referral, and she recommended that very person, whose name I’d given her three years ago.

January Service and Support

Service requests - 4 (masseuse, garbage collector, house cleaner tax preparer)

Support requests—13 (12 rides, website log-in help)

Wellesley Neighbors Needs YOU!

At a recent BOD meeting, Joyce called urgently for more volunteer drivers (see box below, right), sparking a discussion of WN volunteering in general. “Volunteerism is at the heart of Wellesley Neighbors, for it has one paid employee—the executive director—and everyone else volunteers time and talent to make it function,” said BOD member Rosalie Gimeno. Our first president, Janet Giele, added many good thoughts and agreed to share some of them below.

There seem to be three different types of volunteering that I will call the Good Neighbor, the Expert, and the Leader-Innovator. (Some of our members fall into all three categories.) Many have been Good Neighbors by serving as cluster coordinators (led by Marlies Stueart), giving rides (Gene Cox, Nancy Gans, Ann Swanson and others), creating the weekly blast and newsletter (Arthur Ensroth, Lucy Phillips et al.), or hosting gatherings (Betsy Campbell, Maureen Donlon, Mimi Ferrell, and many others).

In the Expert category, one thinks of Peter Offenhartz and Barbara Slavin who have been our webmasters or computer coaches, helping members with everyday issues that come up in connecting to Zoom, logging on to the website, or sending an attachment. Dan Kemp has helped make two videos for the website. Nancy Gans has lent her expertise as a lawyer.

In the Leader-Innovator category, one thinks of Hank Solomon and Mary Lefkowitz who helped cement our relationship to the Wellesley College Club. Hank also established the men’s lunch group, and Mary extended outreach to retiring Wellesley College faculty members, who have starred as some of our speakers. Former members who were WN founders, such as Stan and Ruth Treitman, created the website (to mention only one of many contributions), and Tom DeReimer persisted until we received our 501©(3) nonprofit designation.

I called several people to ask what they found rewarding in volunteering. Nancy Gans and Margot Lansing--both active in many ways--concurred on two things: the pleasure of using their own expertise to solve a problem and seeing that it had truly helped someone. Maureen Donlon, who heads the Activities Committee, added, “Retirement can make you feel a little out of sync with the world, but planning and participating in our events gives me a wonderful purpose in my daily life.”

In closing, I would like to add a note about changes over time. In the beginning, those of us who were founders knew that our efforts would come to naught unless we all pitched in to make the organization a reality. Our present challenge is to maintain that sense of urgency. Ann Swanson thinks COVID drew us away from others and sapped some of the volunteer spirit—but we can bring it back. We all need to figure out what kind of volunteering we are best at – Good Neighbor, Expert, Leader-Innovator—and get involved. J.G.

One way to start is to log onto our website, click on “About Us” and click on “Committees and Boards.” Each committee has a box, with what they do at the top and “view members” at the bottom. NOTE: The Membership Committee (both recruiting and welcoming branches) is under reorganization and particularly wants new people and new ideas.

A few of our many WN volunteers, from left: Margot Lansing, Arthur Ensroth, Barbara Slavin, Hank Solomon.

Calling All Drivers...

Joyce credits Gene Cox as her most stalwart volunteer driver. “I enjoy doing it and enjoy meeting people,” he says. “And they are always so touchingly grateful!” A retired professor of medieval studies and lover of music, Gene often drives to Boston for concerts--and to his family home in Ohio. He obviously likes driving—but when he’s in Ohio, he can’t drive for WN. And he’s noticed that some drivers have dropped out while requests are increasing, “probably due to getting older and needing rides to doctors.” Gene always takes a book along in case he has to wait. But with enough volunteers, rides can be split between two drivers, avoiding a wait. With enough volunteers, nobody has to do too much. Please contact Joyce at 781-283-0417 or director@wellesleyneighbors.org to learn more.

Welcome New Members

Carol and Jerry Kopperschmidt of Natick: Carol grew up in the house where she lives today; it has seen five generations of her family since 1947. She graduated from Jackson College of Tufts University and taught elementary school. She later earned a Certificate in Accounting from Bentley College and worked in that field. She and Jerry raised three children and now have five grandchildren, mostly teenagers. Jerry came to this area from Illinois to attend Andover-Newton Theological School, and spent five years as minister of a church in Charlton, MA. After graduate studies in education and psychology, he directed special education programs in several school systems. He played softball from his early years in Illinois, and recently retired from Senior Softball. Jerry's main hobby is collecting political memorabilia.

Lawrence M. Baldwin: Larry was born in Ohio and grew up there, and in Kansas and New York State. After Antioch College, he did graduate work in child development at Harvard. He taught child psychology, did psychiatric research, was a commercial programmer but spent his last 25 working years at Wellesley College as Director of Institutional Research. He loves taking care of his Sherborn home: gardening, carpentry and creating with stained glass (which led to quilting, with help from his quilter sister). Larry's late wife was an actress, teacher and author, and her daughter's family are frequent visitors.

Jan Mokros: Jan lives in Weston but is from Minneapolis and went to the University of Minnesota. She came east with a PhD in Child Development to teach at Wellesley College and do research at its Center for Research on Women. She's spent the last 40 years doing grant-funded independent research on how children learn, especially how underserved children can better learn STEM subjects. In one study they learned about COVID; another was about the comeback of endangered puffins in Maine (where Jan lives part-time). "I can't retire—my work is too interesting!" she says. Jan also enjoys her son and daughter and running half-marathons.

Happenings

Fred Breimyer took pictures at the Jack's Abbey Brewing Tour and calls this one, "The Maureens have landed!"

Ready for lunch after the tour are (clockwise from lower left) Maureen Meyer, Maureen Donlon, Adele Langevin, Fred Breimyer, Catherine Connor, Larry Baldwin, Jerry and Carol Kopperschmidt, Jean Berry, John and Zully Hedreen.

February Events/Interest Group Meetings

Note: Those on Zoom are marked (Z)

Wed. Feb. 1, 5:30 pm - Women's Night Out, PapaRazzi
Thurs. Feb. 2, 12:30 pm - Men's Lunch
Thurs. Feb. 2, 2 pm - New Yorker II Group (Z)
Fri. Feb. 3, 3 pm - Afternoon Tea (Z)
Tues. Feb. 7, 1 pm - Lunch at Bazille, Nordstrom's, Natick Mall
Wed. Feb. 8, 2 pm - New Yorker I Group (Z)
Thurs. Feb. 9, 4 pm - TED-ED Talk, Benefits of a bilingual brain (Z) (see box at right)
Tues. Feb. 14, 3-4 pm - NIA workshop (Z) (see box, page 1)
Wed. Feb. 15, 1 pm—Lunch at 110 Grill, Sudbury
Thurs. Feb. 16, 1 pm—Short Story Group (Z)
Friday. Feb. 17, 5 pm—Cocktail Hour (Z)
Tues. Feb. 21, 1 pm—Lunch at California Pizza Kitchen, Natick Mall
Sat. Feb. 25, 2 pm—Vokes Theater, Wayland, Bridges of Madison County
Sun. Feb. 26, 3 pm—Wellesley Chamber Players, Dana Hall
Tues. Feb. 28, 1 pm—Lunch at Sichuan Gourmet, Framingham
Tues. Feb. 28, 7:30 pm—Speaker Series: Know Your Neighbor (Zoom) (see page 1)

February 2023

Sun	Mon	Tue	Wed	Thu	Fri	Sat
			1 •	2 •	3 •	4
5	6	7 •	8 •	9 •	10	11
12	13	14 • 	15 •	16 •	17 •	18
19	20	21 •	22	23	24	25 •
26 •	27	28 •

BILINGUAL?

Rosalie Gimeno, who will moderate this February 9 discussion, says that in this context, bilingual (or multilingual) means you read, write, speak or understand a foreign language. You needn't do all four; in fact you needn't know more than English to enjoy this program.

March Events

Watch weekly blasts for new developments.

Wed. March 1, 5:30 pm - Women's Night Out, Dinner at Papa Razzi
Thurs. March 2, 12:30 pm - Men's Lunch
Thurs. March 2, 2 pm - New Yorker II Group (Z)
Fri. March 3, 1 pm - Playreading Group at the Swansons
Fri. March 3, 3 pm - Afternoon Tea (Z)
Sat. March 4, 4 pm - Sudbury Savoyards, Gilbert & Sullivan, The Grand Duke (see box at right)
Wed. March 8, 2 pm - New Yorker I Group (Z)
Fri., March 10, 1 pm - Playreading Group at the Swansons
Thurs., March 16, 1 pm - Short Story Group (Z)
Fri. March 17, 5 pm - Cocktail Hour (Z)
Mon. March 27 or Wed. March 29, 4 pm, David Gullette, poetry reading, at Mimi Ferrell's home (limited number of guests)
Thurs. March 30, 7:30 pm - Speaker Series, Jean Berry (Z)

SUDBURY SAVOYARDS?

Catherine Connor, coordinator of this March 4 event, says, "Many of us really like G&S and simply don't know there is this one place nearby where we can find it—although only once a year. "The Grand Duke" is not often performed, so this is a special opportunity. Google "Sudbury Savoyards" to learn more about this unique group.

February Newsletter

Wellesley Neighbors
P.O. Box 812609
Wellesley, MA 02482

Board of Directors 2023

OFFICERS

Adele Langevin, President
Polly Conlon, Vice President
Catherine Connor, Past President
Lucy Phillips, Clerk
Richard Lansing, Treasurer

DIRECTORS

Polly Conlon, Lee Delph,
Arthur Ensroth, Jerry Gans,
Janet Giele, Rosalie Gimeno,
Marcia Goldsmith, Linda Griffith,
Dan Kemp, Margot Lansing,
Teri Ann Lilly, Marlies Stueart,
Susan Taylor

Speaker Series: "Know Your Neighbor"

Tuesday, February 28, at 7:30 pm on Zoom

In February, our speaker series will feature four WN members who took a memoir-writing class at Wellesley Weston Lifetime Learning (WWLL). They will share "hilarious stories, stories of family culture, stories of chickens, the unexpected," says Catherine Connor. Both organizer and participant, she promises that "you'll know much more about your fellow members through listening to their writings--and you will be thoroughly entertained." The speakers introduce themselves below:

Jerry Gans, psychiatrist--When I entered my 70s, I decided I was through with international travel. I've found myself instead gravitating to internal travel, by which I mean taking stock of my life by looking inside. Memoir-writing has turned out to be a wonderful way of taking this journey – not to mention less expensive. Three years ago I took "Writing Your Story" at WWLL and discovered several members of Wellesley Neighbors there. The class's positive reactions to what I shared was a great satisfaction, and I'm now putting together what will be a self-published book of some 45 pieces that I've written since then.

Lee Delph, elementary school teacher—In my 33 years of teaching, I never wrote just for the sake of writing. I loved teaching writing, but it wasn't until I joined a memoir class in 2007 that I grew to love it. A whole world of memories and new friends opened up for me. Dredging up memories of my childhood, world travels, marriage and divorce, and moving to Needham and then Wellesley gave me lots of material. The camaraderie and constructive criticism helped me grow as a writer and a person. I think I learned about Wellesley Neighbors through one or more members in the class.

Peter Offenhartz, professor and computer entrepreneur—The WWLL memoir class has been a chance to hear the life stories of scores of fascinating people and to tell my own. I was raised near Croton-on-Hudson, with summers at a trout-fishing camp in Maine. At 16 I visited relatives in Ireland and bicycled through several countries, then went to Swarthmore and met my wife Barbara. Graduate studies took us to the U. of Pennsylvania, Cambridge (England), Tokyo and Harvard; I taught chemistry at U. of Colorado and Amherst and wrote a graduate textbook, using the proceeds to acquire a pilot's license and second-hand plane. Came to Wellesley and taught at Mass Bay but moved into computer software and hardware, founding several small companies along the way.

Catherine Connor, biomedical researcher, administrator--I moved to Natick from Urbana, Illinois, 13 years ago, having spent most of my life in Urbana, mostly at the University of Illinois at Urbana Champaign. I found it somewhat difficult to find compatriots of my age in this brand-new place until discovering WWLL, where I signed up for the memoir-writing class. There I found friends, including Ilse Sangree, who invited me to join Wellesley Neighbors. Because Ilse's invitation was the third I'd received, I decided it would be worth trying. I've now belonged for 7 years and am delighted that the two organizations can come together in this presentation.

REMINDER: Give yourself a Valentine by signing up for "Moving to Heal," a workshop in no-impact-aerobics (NIA) exercise with music on Tuesday, February 14, 3-4 pm on Zoom. Led by the psychologist Dr. Suzanne Cohen, it's presented by our Health Support and Wellbeing Committee. Google "NIA yoga" for a preview.

From the President: Fabulous February

AAAHH! February! What a delight! I note that February includes lots of famous dates—we celebrate Presidents George Washington and Abraham Lincoln. We celebrate lots of car sales. We observe Groundhog Day, to see if winter will continue. Rock singers Buddy Holly, Richie

Valens and the Big Bopper died in a plane crash. “Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs” was released. The Barbie Doll was invented. Mark Zuckerberg created Facebook. Astronaut Alan Shepard hit three golf balls on the moon. The Beatles arrived in the U.S. for the first time. The Boy Scouts of America was founded. An act of Congress passed, authorizing the U.S. Weather Bureau. And of course, St. Valentine’s Day. I never knew what a broad portfolio the saint has: the lives of lovers, of course, but also interventions regarding beekeeping and epilepsy, as well as the plague, fainting and traveling. As you might expect, he’s also the patron saint of engaged couples and happy marriages. Busy guy!

Who knew how fabulous February is? Yesterday, I had a wonderful experience—I saw the first witch hazel flowers starting to bloom (at Wellesley College).

So, let’s all hang in there as we continue through winter, enjoying gatherings with Wellesley Neighbors, both on Zoom and in person cocktail hours and afternoon tea, great dining opportunities, lots of groups—Walking, Memoirs, New Yorker, Play reading, Short Story— theater and health presentations. And the very best thing about Fabulous February?? It’s short.

Adele

Monthly Computer Tip from Catherine Connor: If your computer screen starts flashing warnings that say “DO NOT TURN YOUR COMPUTER OFF!!!” or “CALL THIS NUMBER IMMEDIATELY!!” or [think up any dire warning you can], what you need to do is IMMEDIATELY TURN YOUR COMPUTER OFF! Never try to respond to scammers...

From the Executive Director: Reward Good Service

Many members utilize and value our member-vetted database for service referrals. When you have a minute, please send me the names and contact information for vendors and professionals whose services you recommend. All referrals are appreciated and, in particular, we welcome referrals for the following services: garbage collection, tax preparation, house cleaning, massage therapists, all types of doctors, dentists, roofers, masons, and wills and trusts lawyers.

Call me at 781-283-0417 or send an email to director@wellesleyneighbors.org. Joyce

Ed. Note: Your referral may even help YOU! The other day I couldn’t think of the name of a person who’d given me a massage at home (a gift from my family). I called Joyce for a referral, and she recommended that very person, whose name I’d given her three years ago.

January Service and Support

Service requests - 4 (masseuse, garbage collector, house cleaner tax preparer)

Support requests—13 (12 rides, website log-in help)

To request service or support, call Joyce at 781-283-0417, ext. 1.

Wellesley Neighbors Needs YOU!

At a recent BOD meeting, Joyce called urgently for more volunteer drivers (see box below, right), sparking a discussion of WN volunteering in general. "Volunteerism is at the heart of Wellesley Neighbors, for it has one paid employee—the executive director—and everyone else volunteers time and talent to make it function," said BOD member Rosalie Gimeno. Our first president, Janet Giele, added many good thoughts and agreed to share some of them below.

There seem to be three different types of volunteering that I will call the Good Neighbor, the Expert, and the Leader-Innovator. (Some of our members fall into all three categories.) Many have been Good Neighbors by serving as cluster coordinators (led by Marlies Stueart), giving rides (Gene Cox, Nancy Gans, Ann Swanson and others), creating the weekly blast and newsletter (Arthur Ensroth, Lucy Phillips et al.), or hosting gatherings (Betsy Campbell, Maureen Donlon, Mimi Ferrell, and many others).

In the Expert category, one thinks of Peter Offenhartz and Barbara Slavin who have been our webmasters or computer coaches, helping members with everyday issues that come up in connecting to Zoom, logging on to the website, or sending an attachment. Dan Kemp has helped make two videos for the website. Nancy Gans has lent her expertise as a lawyer.

In the Leader-Innovator category, one thinks of Hank Solomon and Mary Lefkowitz who helped cement our relationship to the Wellesley College Club. Hank also established the men's lunch group, and Mary extended outreach to retiring Wellesley College faculty members, who have starred as some of our speakers. Former members who were WN founders, such as Stan and Ruth Treitman, created the website (to mention only one of many contributions), and Tom DeReimer persisted until we received our 501©(3) nonprofit designation.

I called several people to ask what they found rewarding in volunteering. Nancy Gans and Margot Lansing--both active in many ways--concurred on two things: the pleasure of using their own expertise to solve a problem and seeing that it had truly helped someone. Maureen Donlon, who heads the Activities Committee, added, "Retirement can make you feel a little out of sync with the world, but planning and participating in our events gives me a wonderful purpose in my daily life."

In closing, I would like to add a note about changes over time. In the beginning, those of us who were founders knew that our efforts would come to naught unless we all pitched in to make the organization a reality. Our present challenge is to maintain that sense of urgency. Ann Swanson thinks COVID drew us away from others and sapped some of the volunteer spirit—but we can bring it back. We all need to figure out what kind of volunteering we are best at – Good Neighbor, Expert, Leader-Innovator—and get involved. J.G.

One way to start is to log onto our website, click on "About Us" and click on "Committees and Boards." Each committee has a box, with what they do at the top and "view members" at the bottom. NOTE: The Membership Committee (both recruiting and welcoming branches) is under reorganization and particularly wants new people and new ideas.

A few of our many WN volunteers, from left: Margot Lansing, Arthur Ensroth, Barbara Slavin, Hank Solomon.

Calling All Drivers...

Joyce credits Gene Cox as her most stalwart volunteer driver. "I enjoy doing it and enjoy meeting people," he says. "And they are always so touchingly grateful!" A retired professor of medieval studies and lover of music, Gene often drives to Boston for concerts--and to his family home in Ohio. He obviously likes driving—but when he's in Ohio, he can't drive for WN. And he's noticed that some drivers have dropped out while requests are increasing, "probably due to getting older and needing rides to doctors." Gene always takes a book along in case he has to wait. But with enough volunteers, rides can be split between two drivers, avoiding a wait. With enough volunteers, nobody has to do too much. Please contact Joyce at 781-283-0417 or director@wellesleyneighbors.org to learn more.

Welcome New Members

Carol and Jerry Kopperschmidt of Natick: Carol grew up in the house where she lives today; it has seen five generations of her family since 1947. She graduated from Jackson College of Tufts University and taught elementary school. She later earned a Certificate in Accounting from Bentley College and worked in that field. She and Jerry raised three children and now have five grandchildren, mostly teenagers. Jerry came to this area from Illinois to attend Andover-Newton Theological School, and spent five years as minister of a church in Charlton, MA. After graduate studies in education and psychology, he directed special education programs in several school systems. He played softball from his early years in Illinois, and recently retired from Senior Softball. Jerry's main hobby is collecting political memorabilia.

Lawrence M. Baldwin: Larry was born in Ohio and grew up there, and in Kansas and New York State. After Antioch College, he did graduate work in child development at Harvard. He taught child psychology, did psychiatric research, was a commercial programmer but spent his last 25 working years at Wellesley College as Director of Institutional Research. He loves taking care of his Sherborn home: gardening, carpentry and creating with stained glass (which led to quilting, with help from his quilter sister). Larry's late wife was an actress, teacher and author, and her daughter's family are frequent visitors.

Jan Mokros: Jan lives in Weston but is from Minneapolis and went to the University of Minnesota. She came east with a PhD in Child Development to teach at Wellesley College and do research at its Center for Research on Women. She's spent the last 40 years doing grant-funded independent research on how children learn, especially how underserved children can better learn STEM subjects. In one study they learned about COVID; another was about the comeback of endangered puffins in Maine (where Jan lives part-time). "I can't retire—my work is too interesting!" she says. Jan also enjoys her son and daughter and running half-marathons.

Happenings

Fred Breimyer took pictures at the Jack's Abbey Brewing Tour and calls this one, "The Maureens have landed!"

Ready for lunch after the tour are (clockwise from lower left) Maureen Meyer, Maureen Donlon, Adele Langevin, Fred Breimyer, Catherine Connor, Larry Baldwin, Jerry and Carol Kopperschmidt, Jean Berry, John and Zully Hedreen.

February Events/Interest Group Meetings

Note: Those on Zoom are marked (Z)

Wed. Feb. 1, 5:30 pm - Women's Night Out, PapaRazzi
 Thurs. Feb. 2, 12:30 pm - Men's Lunch
 Thurs. Feb. 2, 2 pm - New Yorker II Group (Z)
 Fri. Feb. 3, 3 pm - Afternoon Tea (Z)
 Tues. Feb. 7, 1 pm - Lunch at Bazille, Nordstrom's, Natick Mall
 Wed. Feb. 8, 2 pm - New Yorker I Group (Z)
 Thurs. Feb. 9, 4 pm - TED-ED Talk, Benefits of a bilingual brain (Z) (see box at right)
 Tues. Feb. 14, 3-4 pm - NIA workshop (Z) (see box, page 1)
 Wed. Feb. 15, 1 pm—Lunch at 110 Grill, Sudbury
 Thurs. Feb. 16, 1 pm—Short Story Group (Z)
 Friday. Feb. 17, 5 pm—Cocktail Hour (Z)
 Tues. Feb. 21, 1 pm—Lunch at California Pizza Kitchen, Natick Mall
 Sat. Feb. 25, 2 pm—Vokes Theater, Wayland, Bridges of Madison County
 Sun. Feb. 26, 3 pm—Wellesley Chamber Players, Dana Hall
 Tues. Feb. 28, 1 pm—Lunch at Sichuan Gourmet, Framingham
 Tues. Feb. 28, 7:30 pm—Speaker Series: Know Your Neighbor (Zoom) (see page 1)

February 2023

Sun	Mon	Tue	Wed	Thu	Fri	Sat
			1 •	2 •	3 •	4
5	6	7 •	8 •	9 •	10	11
12	13	14 • 	15 •	16 •	17 •	18
19	20	21 •	22	23	24	25 •
26 •	27	28 •

BILINGUAL?

Rosalie Gimeno, who will moderate this February 9 discussion, says that in this context, bilingual (or multilingual) means you read, write, speak or understand a foreign language. You needn't do all four; in fact you needn't know more than English to enjoy this program.

March Events

Watch weekly blasts for new developments.

Wed. March 1, 5:30 pm - Women's Night Out, Dinner at Papa Razzi
 Thurs. March 2, 12:30 pm - Men's Lunch
 Thurs. March 2, 2 pm - New Yorker II Group (Z)
 Fri. March 3, 1 pm - Playreading Group at the Swansons
 Fri. March 3, 3 pm - Afternoon Tea (Z)
 Sat. March 4, 4 pm - Sudbury Savoyards, Gilbert & Sullivan, The Grand Duke (see box at right)
 Wed. March 8, 2 pm - New Yorker I Group (Z)
 Fri., March 10, 1 pm - Playreading Group at the Swansons
 Thurs., March 16, 1 pm - Short Story Group (Z)
 Fri. March 17, 5 pm - Cocktail Hour (Z)
 Mon. March 27 or Wed. March 29, 4 pm, David Gullette, poetry reading, at Mimi Ferrell's home (limited number of guests)
 Thurs. March 30, 7:30 pm - Speaker Series, Jean Berry (Z)

SUDBURY SAVOYARDS?

Catherine Connor, coordinator of this March 4 event, says, "Many of us really like G&S and simply don't know there is this one place nearby where we can find it—although only once a year. "The Grand Duke" is not often performed, so this is a special opportunity. Google "Sudbury Savoyards" to learn more about this unique group.

February Newsletter

Wellesley Neighbors
P.O. Box 812609
Wellesley, MA 02482

Board of Directors 2023

OFFICERS

Adele Langevin, President
Polly Conlon, Vice President
Catherine Connor, Past President
Lucy Phillips, Clerk
Richard Lansing, Treasurer

DIRECTORS

Polly Conlon, Lee Delph,
Arthur Ensroth, Jerry Gans,
Janet Giele, Rosalie Gimeno,
Marcia Goldsmith, Linda Griffith,
Dan Kemp, Margot Lansing,
Teri Ann Lilly, Marlies Stueart,
Susan Taylor

Speaker Series: "Know Your Neighbor"

Tuesday, February 28, at 7:30 pm on Zoom

In February, our speaker series will feature four WN members who took a memoir-writing class at Wellesley Weston Lifetime Learning (WWLL). They will share "hilarious stories, stories of family culture, stories of chickens, the unexpected," says Catherine Connor. Both organizer and participant, she promises that "you'll know much more about your fellow members through listening to their writings--and you will be thoroughly entertained." The speakers introduce themselves below:

Jerry Gans, psychiatrist--When I entered my 70s, I decided I was through with international travel. I've found myself instead gravitating to internal travel, by which I mean taking stock of my life by looking inside. Memoir-writing has turned out to be a wonderful way of taking this journey – not to mention less expensive. Three years ago I took "Writing Your Story" at WWLL and discovered several members of Wellesley Neighbors there. The class's positive reactions to what I shared was a great satisfaction, and I'm now putting together what will be a self-published book of some 45 pieces that I've written since then.

Lee Delph, elementary school teacher—In my 33 years of teaching, I never wrote just for the sake of writing. I loved teaching writing, but it wasn't until I joined a memoir class in 2007 that I grew to love it. A whole world of memories and new friends opened up for me. Dredging up memories of my childhood, world travels, marriage and divorce, and moving to Needham and then Wellesley gave me lots of material. The camaraderie and constructive criticism helped me grow as a writer and a person. I think I learned about Wellesley Neighbors through one or more members in the class.

Peter Offenhartz, professor and computer entrepreneur—The WWLL memoir class has been a chance to hear the life stories of scores of fascinating people and to tell my own. I was raised near Croton-on-Hudson, with summers at a trout-fishing camp in Maine. At 16 I visited relatives in Ireland and bicycled through several countries, then went to Swarthmore and met my wife Barbara. Graduate studies took us to the U. of Pennsylvania, Cambridge (England), Tokyo and Harvard; I taught chemistry at U. of Colorado and Amherst and wrote a graduate textbook, using the proceeds to acquire a pilot's license and second-hand plane. Came to Wellesley and taught at Mass Bay but moved into computer software and hardware, founding several small companies along the way.

Catherine Connor, biomedical researcher, administrator--I moved to Natick from Urbana, Illinois, 13 years ago, having spent most of my life in Urbana, mostly at the University of Illinois at Urbana Champaign. I found it somewhat difficult to find compatriots of my age in this brand-new place until discovering WWLL, where I signed up for the memoir-writing class. There I found friends, including Ilse Sangree, who invited me to join Wellesley Neighbors. Because Ilse's invitation was the third I'd received, I decided it would be worth trying. I've now belonged for 7 years and am delighted that the two organizations can come together in this presentation.

REMINDER: Give yourself a Valentine by signing up for "Moving to Heal," a workshop in no-impact-aerobics (NIA) exercise with music on Tuesday, February 14, 3-4 pm on Zoom. Led by the psychologist Dr. Suzanne Cohen, it's presented by our Health Support and Wellbeing Committee. Google "NIA yoga" for a preview.

From the President: Fabulous February

AAAHH! February! What a delight! I note that February includes lots of famous dates—we celebrate Presidents George Washington and Abraham Lincoln. We celebrate lots of car sales. We observe Groundhog Day, to see if winter will continue. Rock singers Buddy Holly, Richie

Valens and the Big Bopper died in a plane crash. “Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs” was released. The Barbie Doll was invented. Mark Zuckerberg created Facebook. Astronaut Alan Shepard hit three golf balls on the moon. The Beatles arrived in the U.S. for the first time. The Boy Scouts of America was founded. An act of Congress passed, authorizing the U.S. Weather Bureau. And of course, St. Valentine’s Day. I never knew what a broad portfolio the saint has: the lives of lovers, of course, but also interventions regarding beekeeping and epilepsy, as well as the plague, fainting and traveling. As you might expect, he’s also the patron saint of engaged couples and happy marriages. Busy guy!

Who knew how fabulous February is? Yesterday, I had a wonderful experience—I saw the first witch hazel flowers starting to bloom (at Wellesley College).

So, let’s all hang in there as we continue through winter, enjoying gatherings with Wellesley Neighbors, both on Zoom and in person cocktail hours and afternoon tea, great dining opportunities, lots of groups—Walking, Memoirs, New Yorker, Play reading, Short Story— theater and health presentations. And the very best thing about Fabulous February?? It’s short.

Adele

Monthly Computer Tip from Catherine Connor: If your computer screen starts flashing warnings that say “DO NOT TURN YOUR COMPUTER OFF!!!” or “CALL THIS NUMBER IMMEDIATELY!!” or [think up any dire warning you can], what you need to do is IMMEDIATELY TURN YOUR COMPUTER OFF! Never try to respond to scammers...

From the Executive Director: Reward Good Service

Many members utilize and value our member-vetted database for service referrals. When you have a minute, please send me the names and contact information for vendors and professionals whose services you recommend. All referrals are appreciated and, in particular, we welcome referrals for the following services: garbage collection, tax preparation, house cleaning, massage therapists, all types of doctors, dentists, roofers, masons, and wills and trusts lawyers.

Call me at 781-283-0417 or send an email to director@wellesleyneighbors.org. Joyce

Ed. Note: Your referral may even help YOU! The other day I couldn’t think of the name of a person who’d given me a massage at home (a gift from my family). I called Joyce for a referral, and she recommended that very person, whose name I’d given her three years ago.

January Service and Support

Service requests - 4 (masseuse, garbage collector, house cleaner tax preparer)

Support requests—13 (12 rides, website log-in help)

To request service or support, call Joyce at 781-283-0417, ext. 1.

Wellesley Neighbors Needs YOU!

At a recent BOD meeting, Joyce called urgently for more volunteer drivers (see box below, right), sparking a discussion of WN volunteering in general. “Volunteerism is at the heart of Wellesley Neighbors, for it has one paid employee—the executive director—and everyone else volunteers time and talent to make it function,” said BOD member Rosalie Gimeno. Our first president, Janet Giele, added many good thoughts and agreed to share some of them below.

There seem to be three different types of volunteering that I will call the Good Neighbor, the Expert, and the Leader-Innovator. (Some of our members fall into all three categories.) Many have been Good Neighbors by serving as cluster coordinators (led by Marlies Stueart), giving rides (Gene Cox, Nancy Gans, Ann Swanson and others), creating the weekly blast and newsletter (Arthur Ensroth, Lucy Phillips et al.), or hosting gatherings (Betsy Campbell, Maureen Donlon, Mimi Ferrell, and many others).

In the Expert category, one thinks of Peter Offenhartz and Barbara Slavin who have been our webmasters or computer coaches, helping members with everyday issues that come up in connecting to Zoom, logging on to the website, or sending an attachment. Dan Kemp has helped make two videos for the website. Nancy Gans has lent her expertise as a lawyer.

In the Leader-Innovator category, one thinks of Hank Solomon and Mary Lefkowitz who helped cement our relationship to the Wellesley College Club. Hank also established the men’s lunch group, and Mary extended outreach to retiring Wellesley College faculty members, who have starred as some of our speakers. Former members who were WN founders, such as Stan and Ruth Treitman, created the website (to mention only one of many contributions), and Tom DeReimer persisted until we received our 501©(3) nonprofit designation.

I called several people to ask what they found rewarding in volunteering. Nancy Gans and Margot Lansing--both active in many ways--concurred on two things: the pleasure of using their own expertise to solve a problem and seeing that it had truly helped someone. Maureen Donlon, who heads the Activities Committee, added, “Retirement can make you feel a little out of sync with the world, but planning and participating in our events gives me a wonderful purpose in my daily life.”

In closing, I would like to add a note about changes over time. In the beginning, those of us who were founders knew that our efforts would come to naught unless we all pitched in to make the organization a reality. Our present challenge is to maintain that sense of urgency. Ann Swanson thinks COVID drew us away from others and sapped some of the volunteer spirit—but we can bring it back. We all need to figure out what kind of volunteering we are best at – Good Neighbor, Expert, Leader-Innovator—and get involved. J.G.

One way to start is to log onto our website, click on “About Us” and click on “Committees and Boards.” Each committee has a box, with what they do at the top and “view members” at the bottom. NOTE: The Membership Committee (both recruiting and welcoming branches) is under reorganization and particularly wants new people and new ideas.

A few of our many WN volunteers, from left: Margot Lansing, Arthur Ensroth, Barbara Slavin, Hank Solomon.

Calling All Drivers...

Joyce credits Gene Cox as her most stalwart volunteer driver. “I enjoy doing it and enjoy meeting people,” he says. “And they are always so touchingly grateful!” A retired professor of medieval studies and lover of music, Gene often drives to Boston for concerts--and to his family home in Ohio. He obviously likes driving—but when he’s in Ohio, he can’t drive for WN. And he’s noticed that some drivers have dropped out while requests are increasing, “probably due to getting older and needing rides to doctors.” Gene always takes a book along in case he has to wait. But with enough volunteers, rides can be split between two drivers, avoiding a wait. With enough volunteers, nobody has to do too much. Please contact Joyce at 781-283-0417 or director@wellesleyneighbors.org to learn more.

Welcome New Members

Carol and Jerry Kopperschmidt of Natick: Carol grew up in the house where she lives today; it has seen five generations of her family since 1947. She graduated from Jackson College of Tufts University and taught elementary school. She later earned a Certificate in Accounting from Bentley College and worked in that field. She and Jerry raised three children and now have five grandchildren, mostly teenagers. Jerry came to this area from Illinois to attend Andover-Newton Theological School, and spent five years as minister of a church in Charlton, MA. After graduate studies in education and psychology, he directed special education programs in several school systems. He played softball from his early years in Illinois, and recently retired from Senior Softball. Jerry's main hobby is collecting political memorabilia.

Lawrence M. Baldwin: Larry was born in Ohio and grew up there, and in Kansas and New York State. After Antioch College, he did graduate work in child development at Harvard. He taught child psychology, did psychiatric research, was a commercial programmer but spent his last 25 working years at Wellesley College as Director of Institutional Research. He loves taking care of his Sherborn home: gardening, carpentry and creating with stained glass (which led to quilting, with help from his quilter sister). Larry's late wife was an actress, teacher and author, and her daughter's family are frequent visitors.

Jan Mokros: Jan lives in Weston but is from Minneapolis and went to the University of Minnesota. She came east with a PhD in Child Development to teach at Wellesley College and do research at its Center for Research on Women. She's spent the last 40 years doing grant-funded independent research on how children learn, especially how underserved children can better learn STEM subjects. In one study they learned about COVID; another was about the comeback of endangered puffins in Maine (where Jan lives part-time). "I can't retire—my work is too interesting!" she says. Jan also enjoys her son and daughter and running half-marathons.

Happenings

Fred Breimyer took pictures at the Jack's Abbey Brewing Tour and calls this one, "The Maureens have landed!"

Ready for lunch after the tour are (clockwise from lower left) Maureen Meyer, Maureen Donlon, Adele Langevin, Fred Breimyer, Catherine Connor, Larry Baldwin, Jerry and Carol Kopperschmidt, Jean Berry, John and Zully Hedreen.

February Events/Interest Group Meetings

Note: Those on Zoom are marked (Z)

Wed. Feb. 1, 5:30 pm - Women's Night Out, PapaRazzi
Thurs. Feb. 2, 12:30 pm - Men's Lunch
Thurs. Feb. 2, 2 pm - New Yorker II Group (Z)
Fri. Feb. 3, 3 pm - Afternoon Tea (Z)
Tues. Feb. 7, 1 pm - Lunch at Bazille, Nordstrom's, Natick Mall
Wed. Feb. 8, 2 pm - New Yorker I Group (Z)
Thurs. Feb. 9, 4 pm - TED-ED Talk, Benefits of a bilingual brain (Z) (see box at right)
Tues. Feb. 14, 3-4 pm - NIA workshop (Z) (see box, page 1)
Wed. Feb. 15, 1 pm—Lunch at 110 Grill, Sudbury
Thurs. Feb. 16, 1 pm—Short Story Group (Z)
Friday. Feb. 17, 5 pm—Cocktail Hour (Z)
Tues. Feb. 21, 1 pm—Lunch at California Pizza Kitchen, Natick Mall
Sat. Feb. 25, 2 pm—Vokes Theater, Wayland, Bridges of Madison County
Sun. Feb. 26, 3 pm—Wellesley Chamber Players, Dana Hall
Tues. Feb. 28, 1 pm—Lunch at Sichuan Gourmet, Framingham
Tues. Feb. 28, 7:30 pm—Speaker Series: Know Your Neighbor (Zoom) (see page 1)

February 2023

Sun	Mon	Tue	Wed	Thu	Fri	Sat
			1 •	2 •	3 •	4
5	6	7 •	8 •	9 •	10	11
12	13	14 • 	15 •	16 •	17 •	18
19	20	21 •	22	23	24	25 •
26 •	27	28 •

BILINGUAL?

Rosalie Gimeno, who will moderate this February 9 discussion, says that in this context, bilingual (or multilingual) means you read, write, speak or understand a foreign language. You needn't do all four; in fact you needn't know more than English to enjoy this program.

March Events

Watch weekly blasts for new developments.

Wed. March 1, 5:30 pm - Women's Night Out, Dinner at Papa Razzi
Thurs. March 2, 12:30 pm - Men's Lunch
Thurs. March 2, 2 pm - New Yorker II Group (Z)
Fri. March 3, 1 pm - Playreading Group at the Swansons
Fri. March 3, 3 pm - Afternoon Tea (Z)
Sat. March 4, 4 pm - Sudbury Savoyards, Gilbert & Sullivan, The Grand Duke (see box at right)
Wed. March 8, 2 pm - New Yorker I Group (Z)
Fri., March 10, 1 pm - Playreading Group at the Swansons
Thurs., March 16, 1 pm - Short Story Group (Z)
Fri. March 17, 5 pm - Cocktail Hour (Z)
Mon. March 27 or Wed. March 29, 4 pm, David Gullette, poetry reading, at Mimi Ferrell's home (limited number of guests)
Thurs. March 30, 7:30 pm - Speaker Series, Jean Berry (Z)

SUDBURY SAVOYARDS?

Catherine Connor, coordinator of this March 4 event, says, "Many of us really like G&S and simply don't know there is this one place nearby where we can find it—although only once a year. "The Grand Duke" is not often performed, so this is a special opportunity. Google "Sudbury Savoyards" to learn more about this unique group.

February Newsletter

Wellesley Neighbors
P.O. Box 812609
Wellesley, MA 02482

Board of Directors 2023

OFFICERS

Adele Langevin, President
Polly Conlon, Vice President
Catherine Connor, Past President
Lucy Phillips, Clerk
Richard Lansing, Treasurer

DIRECTORS

Polly Conlon, Lee Delph,
Arthur Ensroth, Jerry Gans,
Janet Giele, Rosalie Gimeno,
Marcia Goldsmith, Linda Griffith,
Dan Kemp, Margot Lansing,
Teri Ann Lilly, Marlies Stueart,
Susan Taylor